

I trust parents in eastern North Carolina to make decisions for their children more than I trust bureaucrats in Washington, DC. When it comes to America's public schools, control should be in the hands of parents.

Mr. Speaker, for the sake of the children, I hope my colleagues will support school choice and education savings accounts.

IT IS TIME FOR BOB DORNAN TO STOP WASTING THE TAXPAYERS' MONEY

(Mr. MENENDEZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. MENENDEZ. Mr. Speaker, I rise about the House election contest in California.

First, Bob Dornan is given unprecedented subpoena power which he uses to harass and violate the privacy rights of law-abiding American citizens simply because they have a Spanish surname. Then those actions amount to nothing short of a witch-hunt.

Now I read in yesterday's Roll Call that Bob Dornan will use his special privileges as a former Member to take his witch-hunt to the House floor. Surely, this casts an appearance of impropriety upon the House.

If this election were being challenged by any American other than a defeated Member of the House, that American could not come to the House floor to lobby on behalf of their own interests. They would not get special subpoena powers, and neither should Bob Dornan.

Bob Dornan should not use the privileges as a former Member of this House to influence his case. Mr. Speaker, there should not be a case at all. The Republican California Secretary of State certified the election of the gentlewoman from California, and there is no sufficient credible evidence to challenge it.

It is time for Bob Dornan to stop wasting taxpayers' money, to end this witch-hunt and end the influence that he is trying to use in this House.

INTRODUCTION OF LEGISLATION TO FIX LOOPHOLE PREVENTING USE OF LINE-ITEM VETO

(Mr. UPTON asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. UPTON. Mr. Speaker, I spent most of my August break back in my district listening to my constituents, and many were pleased, in fact, when the President used for the first time the line-item veto. In fact, many wished that the President had had the authority for the disaster relief bill that we passed earlier this year, and so many other bills in recent years where so many things are tucked away in some of those bills that no one hears about them until after they are enacted.

I support budget reform, and in fact, as part of the Contract with America, we included the line-item veto, which passed this House by a very large margin, to allow the President to have the line-item veto, as well as the 43 other Governors across the country.

Lo and behold, we have discovered a loophole that causes the line-item veto to go away.

I am proud of the bipartisan legislation that we passed here in this House that puts us on a solid fiscal footing and, in fact, balances the budget by the year 2002. We even have a surplus. But, lo and behold, that loophole that we have discovered prevents us from using the line-item veto despite having a $5½ trillion national debt.

We are introducing legislation to fix this, and I would urge my colleagues to support it.

THE MEN AND WOMEN OF THE UNITED STATES BORDER PATROL DESERVE BETTER

(Mr. REYES asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. REYES. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support and defense of the hard-working men and women of the U.S. Border Patrol. Regrettably, last night on this floor the integrity, professionalism, dedication, and the ability of these fine men and women was attacked.

Mr. Speaker, it is unfortunate that some in this institution would resort to these kinds of tactics for the sole purpose of political agendas and end-justify-the-means mentality that question the outstanding and dangerous work being done by our Border Patrol agents.

The men and women that comprise our Border Patrol represent the best that this country has to offer, men and women of every description and background, men and women that come from every State in this country and have dedicated themselves to the dangerous job of Federal law enforcement, and while some in this people's House may not appreciate this, I do, and, Mr. Speaker, I speak from personal experience that spans 26½ years. I know how tough their job is, I know how dangerous their job is, and I know how important their job is because I have been there, I have seen it and I have done it.

Those who attack their integrity, their dedication, and their commitment are not only wrong but undermine the morale of a fine agency. The men and women of the U.S. Border Patrol deserve better, the people of this country expect better, and, frankly, those in this institution that attack them know better.

Mr. Speaker, all of us need to support the U.S. Border Patrol.

THOMPSON COMMITTEE CONTINUING PROBE DESPITE HAVING SO MUCH TROUBLE GETTING PEOPLE TO COOPERATE

(Mr. HEFLEY asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. HEFLEY. Mr. Speaker, it is becoming clearer with every passing day that one would have to dig to China to get to the bottom of all the campaign finance scandals in this administration. Although, come to think of it, I guess one would actually have to go to China to find all the shady characters who fled the country to escape justice. But even all the tea in China cannot force foreign fundraisers to come to the United States Senate and tell the truth.

While some Democratic Senators are gleeful that the Thompson committee is having trouble getting people to cooperate, those responsible Senators who actually care about performing their constitutional duty to find out the truth about campaign finance crimes that may have been committed will continue to probe this sleazy affair.

Mr. Speaker, my constituents and yours have a right to know if their elected officials really do believe that they are above the law. It is time to get to the bottom of this; it is time to start digging.

IMPROVED ACADEMIC PERFORMANCE ACHIEVED AS A RESULT OF TESTS AND MORE RIGOROUS STANDARDS

(Mr. PALLONE asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, Democrats want to raise education standards across the country so that students in every State can master the basics of reading and math; and testing, I believe, is an important part of that effort to achieve national standards.

In my home State of New Jersey, we have seen improved academic performances as a result of more rigorous standards. Tests administered to all New Jersey students have been a significant ingredient in my State's efforts to improve student achievement. Education, I believe, and I will stress this, will always be primarily a State and local matter, but there needs to be a partnership with the Federal Government, and I believe the test national standards and Federal dollars made available to local school districts to rebuild crumbling and overcrowded schools should all be part of a national agenda to improve education.

We can work together on the Federal and the State and the local level to achieve excellence in education.

CHEATING IN THE WHITE HOUSE

(Mr. BOB SCHAFFER of Colorado asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)
